LeporellionMusicTypewriter 1 (v2)

1a // An introduction in the Law of Octaves by using an consonantal Alphabet on a Piano

a. Music notation now and then

The piano has 88 keys thereof 52 are white. Each full octaves has 5 black and 7 white keys (c, d, e, f, g, a, h respectively b). The conventional Alphabet has 26 letters. We are using the first white 26 keys on a Piano for upper cases (A - Z) and the rest for lower cases (a - z). The black keys used for vowels (a, e, i, o and u). We are adding these vowels to each upper and lower cases. For flat notes we put the vowels first (e.g. ub, B = Bb2, B2 / b, ib = g1, ges1), for sharp notes we put vowels after (e.g. A, Au = A2, AIS2 / a, ai = f1, fis1). The blacks keys always representing a pair of consonant and vowels.

We use a dot stamping with subtext for the glyphs similar-looking to a LeporellionVisualBraille (9-dot-Braille). We don't differentiate between bass clef and treble clef. We are using a font instead of sheets of music!!! For frequent syllables and literal characters (ae, oe, ue, ch, sch, st, sz or - ing and so on) you should build chords manualy by using the font with a Smart Keyboard.

We trigger full notes for A to Z with SHIFT-keying (white keys), flat and sharp notes (black keys) with ALT-SHIFT-keying. To write flat and sharp notes for lower cases a to z we are using ALT-keying. The numbers keys from 0 to 9 have completely flat notes which are triggered by using ALT- and ALT-SHIFT-keying. The font MusicTypewriter 1 Regular/Standard (v2) contains 124 glyphs thereof visualized tones that represents 52 white keys and 2 times 36 black keys (sharp/flat tones) on a Piano.

I was using Inkscape and Vector Magic to create Scalable Vector Graphics on a MacOS System with a Smart Keyboard (QWERTZ). Then the font is generated with Fontastic. You need to install the MusicTypewriter 1 Regular/Standard (v2) from my GitHub account.

This typefont is an universal solution and wordart from its own right licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial- ShareAlike 4.0 International License. Permissions beyond the scope of this license may be available at github.com/scifiltr. Enjoy reading and keep in touch!

b1. Law of Octaves applied on upper and lower cases

The MusicTypewriter 1 Regular (v2) uses a paired dot stamping that must read square by square: First row (square 1, 2) and 2nd row (square 3,4). These are compatible with 9-dot-Braille what the numeric 0 to 9 concerns. The first row marks the Octaves. The second row marks the Piano keying. We replace the notes c, d, e, f, g, a, h respectively b with the numerics 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 1, 2. But a change to the next higher Octave can be identified by the key assignment (piano key 01-88).

The Octaves range from A2 to e1 marks the upper cases from A to Z and are assigned to the first 26 white keys from the left to the middle (piano key 01-44). The Octaves range from f1 to c5 marks the lower cases from a to z and are also assigned to 26 white keys from the right upwards (piano key 45-88). Now all 52 white keys on the Piano are alphabetically assigned.

I have deliberately renounced a break in the table so that Prime, Second, Third (Terz), Fourth (Quarte), Fifth (Quinte), Sixth (Sexte), seventh (Septime) and Octave are above each other. The upper case Z was assigned to the 44 key. The lower cases starts on 45 key.

b2. Law of Octaves applied on vowels

Now let's look at the black keys on the piano. The Subcontra-Octave knows only one black key and two white keys. In contrast, there is no black key in the five-line Octave (c5) that has only one white key. The Contra-Octave, Big Octave, Small Octave, the one-line, two-line, three-line and four-line Octaves have always 7 white keys and 5 black keys. The black keys each contain two tones, that is, lowered (b, flat) and raised (s, sharp) notes.

But how do we deal with the five vowels a, e, i, o and u? The upper and lower case letters are prefixed to the vowels in order to form the consonant pairs for sharp notes (e.g. ais, cis, dis, fis, gis). The vowels are suffixed to the lower and upper case letters to form the consonant pairs for flat notes (e.g. as, des, es, ges). On the Smart keyboard (QWERTZ) we trigger the glyphs via ALT-SHIFT-keying. However, we have more sharp and flat notes than graphical letters, so we have to include the number keys as well.

The designation of the Octaves in the first row remains (square 1,2), but the key assignment in the second row (square 3,4) changes. The following table shows the glyphs in the respective Octaves.

Sorry, in v1 of Leporellion MusicTypewriter (Regular/Standard) there was an Unicode conflict with the glyph „ig“ and the ALT-SHIFT-keying with numeric 2. The problems with the multiple assignment of quotes fixed with v2 of the MusicTypewriter 1 for Piano (a. Regular/b. Standard).

c. Working with Variables

We write in fractions (1/1, 1/2, 1/3, 1/4, 2/4, 3/4, 4/4, 1/8, 1/16 and so on) and Variables (v = note value, m= mute, t= tact-time) by using the non-binding format in another font (e.g. Arial, Helvetica New):

`fraction.variable(t) fraction.variable(v).glyph1 (...) fraction.variable(m)`

The points should be omitted. I nested glyphs in parenthesis (opening and ending brackets) because it allows shortened spelling. Then the music notation could look like this:

c1. Example by using upper and lower cases only:

4/4t

1/4v()

1/2m

c2. Example by using consonantal pairs:

4/4t

1/4v()

1/2m

d. Working with chords

Instead of connecting staves we highlight the note glyphs in colors. We form chords for common words and syllables.

ae	ue	oe
o f	f o r	f r o m y o u	a r e	w e
h a v e	h a d	p l ay e d
t h e y	t h e m	d o
a n d	t o	w i l l
s h o u l d	d i d	o r
t h i n g	b e	w o u l d
no t	c ou l d	s h a ll

1b // Another Introduction in the Law of Octaves by using a Standard formatting

e. Alternative Notation without consonantal keying

In this notation for Piano, we ignore the previously created consonantal Alphabet in LeporellionMusicTypewriter 1 (Regular), so that you can use LeporellionMusicTypewriter 1 (v2) in a alphanumeric formatting (Standard). All you need to do is change formatting of MusicTypewriter 1 from Regular to Standard.

f. Prospect of Leporellion Music Typewriter

I realize that the Leporellion Font Family turns the language world and font usage on its head. You are to accompany me on this project. I see no obstacles in turning dot stamping (VisualBraille) into a dit dah doh (NewMorse) to create an equivalent for drums and percussion. You may rely on Leporellion Music Typewriter II for Drums. But I also make mistakes – I am not a musician or professional typograph – and you help me to fix them.

In the long term, a stand-alone XML reference with HTML entities would be a far better solution to avoid the keyboard conflicts (Basic/Mac Latin; QWERTZ vs. QWERTY) and instability of developer tools. Stay tuned!

HOW TO ADD SVG SPRITE ICONS TO YOUR PROJECT?

1 Upload the icons.svg file to your server. In our examples below we assume that the sprite file will be available at:
`http://yoursite.com/images/icons.svg`

2 Go to "Icons Reference" and choose an icon that you want to have on your HTML page. Then click and copy its markup to your HTML page. For instance, the markup for a twitter icon could look like this:

```
<svg class="icon-twitter"><use xlink:href="#icon-twitter"></use></svg>

3 Now it's time to add the sprite file URL to the icon markup. In the example below, the URL is `/images/icons.svg`. So now the twitter icon markup could look like this:

<svg class="icon-twitter"><use xlink:href="/images/icons.svg#icon-twitter"></use></svg>

4 Add the code below to the CSS file that you use for your html page:

[class^="icon-"], [class*=" icon-"] {
    height: 32px;
    width: 32px;
    display: inline-block;
    fill:currentColor;

You can use `height` and `width` properties to control icon size. To define icon color use `fill` property. Note: `currentColor` keyword inherits the color value of a parent element.

5 For IE capability you can use a great polyfill: svg4everybody.

Remember: with Icon Cloud you don't have to worry about IE capability, the sprite file and other stuff. We'll take care of all of that for you, just click the "Publish" button and give it a try.

HOW TO ADD SVG SPRITE ICONS TO YOUR PROJECT?

1 Upload the icons.svg file to your server. In our examples below we assume that the sprite file will be available at:
`http://yoursite.com/images/icons.svg`

2 Go to "Icons Reference" and choose an icon that you want to have on your HTML page. Then click and copy its markup to your HTML page. For instance, the markup for a twitter icon could look like this:

```
<svg class="icon-twitter"><use xlink:href="#icon-twitter"></use></svg>
```

3 Now it's time to add the sprite file URL to the icon markup. In the example below, the URL is `/images/icons.svg`. So now the twitter icon markup could look like this:

```
<svg class="icon-twitter"><use xlink:href="/images/icons.svg#icon-twitter"></use></svg>
```

4 Add the code below to the CSS file that you use for your html page:

[class^="icon-"], [class*=" icon-"] {
    height: 32px;
    width: 32px;
    display: inline-block;
    fill:currentColor;

You can use `height` and `width` properties to control icon size. To define icon color use `fill` property. Note: `currentColor` keyword inherits the color value of a parent element.

5 For IE capability you can use a great polyfill: svg4everybody.

Remember: with Icon Cloud you don't have to worry about IE capability, the sprite file and other stuff. We'll take care of all of that for you, just click the "Publish" button and give it a try.
